

Travel Writing and the Imaginings for Freedom

Prakash Thapa, PhD

Scholar, Manipur International University, Imphal, Manipur

Dr. Harikumar Pallathadka

Professor, Department of Biochemistry, Yogi Vemana University, Kadapa, Andhra Pradesh, India

Dr. Yam Bahadur Kshetry

Professor, Department of Biochemistry, Yogi Vemana University, Kadapa, Andhra Pradesh, India

Abstract:

Reflecting the very essence of life, love, compassion, nature, freedom and silence through the fusion of travel and creative writing is a life enhancing experience. Moreover, travel is the expression of the inner self of an individual, it is one of the life-generating forces, it is creative, it is inspiring and transformational. It is the essence of every human being because the human existence and civilization has been started since the time immemorial. So, it seems that travel is genetic inheritance of every individual and therefore man loves to travel to new places, new culture, civilization, new life pattern and dimensions of life. Moreover, travel is the instinctual drive of humanity by which he seeks the new space-time dimension in the universe.

Keywords:

Travel, life and transformation, nature, love and compassion.