

Objects Recognition in Brain Using Micro Players

Denis Tarasov

Saint Petersburg, Russia

Abstract:

The article describes the method of object recognition using only one image of an object for remembering without the need for a training set of object's images. The system is also able to recognize rotated, scaled objects and objects located against the background of interferences.

Keywords:

Computer vision, images recognition, machine learning, objects recognition.